HE WAS A POOH BAH.

HOW YOUNG FOX RAN A WHOLE COUNTY IN DAKOTA.

He Held All the Offices For One Winter and Rather Enjoyed the Experience. Though It Is Presumed That He Was Sometimes a Little Lonesome.

There is a man in this town who was the supreme ruler of the whole county for almost six months. He was a Pooh Bah with a vengeance. His name is E. J. Fox, and he is fond of telling how he ran Cavalier county in the first winter of its existence. It came about in this way:

Cavalier county had been named, but unorganized, for several years up to 1884. It consisted of a large strip of land, all owned by the government, lying west of the western boundary line of Pembina county. About that time P. McHugh of Bathgate was elected as a representative of Pembina county in the legislature, and it occurred to him and to a former W. J. McHugh of the same village that it would be well to organize Cavalier county and add to it the three ranges in the western part of Pembina county. This western part of Pembina county was very much higher than the rest of the county, and was situated, the people said, and say yet, "on the mountain." So McHugh got a bill through the legislature defining Cavalier county as it is today.

That was in the winter of 1884-5. A courthouse was built at Langdon, which was designated as the county seat, and at the election in November various county officers were elected. But none of the county officers came to Langdon to live. It was already a bad winter, and they could see no reason why they should come if there was some one there to take charge of the records. So they united in asking E. J. Fox, a young man just from Canada, to take charge of the offices until summer. Fox accepted the position, or position, and in December took charge of the affairs of the county. The courthouse was then a large building—in fact, too large for use. Fox decided that it would be better to leave it vacant until spring, and he took up his abode in a one room "claim shack," the only other building in town. This was about 15 by 20 feet in dimensions, and there he lived and did business that winter. He was deputy clerk of the courts, county judge, county treasurer, county auditor and register of deeds. The sheriff lived in the country and the superintendent of schools lived just across the Manitoba line. The sheriff did not serve out his term, for he was put in jail for shooting a man in a fight. There was not another living soul within two miles.

Fox lived entirely alone, and did his own cooking, except the bread baking, which was done by a neighbor three miles away. Langdon, through the winter, was not yet a postoffice. The postmaster of Olga, in the eastern part of the county, used to send over a large package of letters and papers about twice a week to the people whom he knew lived near Langdon, and Fox would give to these people their mail when they called for it. There was no one settled 40 miles to the west, but about 40 and 50 miles northwest, near the Manitoba line, there were several settlers, and some of these used to drive the great distances to "file" on a homestead or a tree claim. When they did that, Fox had to give them their meals and baggage, and, in fact, he had often to keep a sort of hotel.

The winter of 1884-5 was very cold, and at night Fox used often to lie awake and listen to the blizzards howl around his little shack. He was kept busy, however, for there were many filings, registrations of mortgages and a few deeds. An average of two or three men would come to see him daily on business, but he seldom saw a woman. Nearly all the settlers near him at that time were bachelors, who afterward went back to Canada to get married; and indeed Fox did the same. Every body was poor, and yet they all seemed to enjoy themselves, though they had to haul their wheat from 50 to 75 miles to market.

The winter passed very swiftly, and in the summer Mooney and McHugh came with their families. Then other settlers began to pour in. Buildings went up, as if by magic, and in a few months there were a postoffice, and a dozen dwellings. Talk of a railroad began to be heard, and in a few months it came. Then indeed Pooh-Bah Fox had to surrender his glory. He chose to take up the humble position of superintendent of the schools of the county and he still retains the place. He is disappointed to think that, in spite of the comforts and conveniences of the present mode of life here, he enjoyed himself more that winter when he was monarch of all the government offices of Cavalier county—Langdon (N. D.) Cor. Chicago branch.

Man's View Of Marriage.

"IS MARRIAGE A FAILURE?"

It is not uncommon for men to bewail the fact that marriage so seldom means a real companionship—that man and wife are separated by difference of taste, of mental outlook, of general interest in life. It is perhaps even more common to hear women blamed for what is called breach of contract in the marriage relation. If the wife be delicate, run-down, nervous and irritable, if her smile and her spirits have taken flight, it worries her husband as well as herself. Even worse symptoms may follow—the woman suffers from sleeplessness and fainting spells, her head is in a whirl, her back aches, and she has that awful crowding-down feeling in the abdomen. It depends on the woman whether she will permit these troubles to continue day by day leading to a life of misery.

Thousands have been cured by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and why not you? A healthy woman is always interesting; she passes for a beauty because she is happy, and her good spirits are contagious. Good nature goes with health, irritability and peevishness with sickness.

Those who suffer from the derangements, disorders and diseases of the sex should remember that Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has, for over a quarter of a century, made the diseases of women a specialty. Send twenty-one (21) cents (in one-cent stamps) to him, at above address, for his great medical book of 1000 pages, profusely illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates. It contains photographs, names and addresses of a vast number who have been cured. You can correspond with them and learn how they cured themselves without having to consult a doctor.

HE HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Major General Miles' Thrilling Encounter With Lame Deer.

Probably the closest call General Miles ever had in all his experience as an Indian fighter was that in his encounter with Lame Deer. It was in 1877, when he was still a colonel, during his campaign against the Sioux and other hostile tribes in the northwest. Lame Deer and his outlaws had been making trouble in Dakota, and Colonel Miles raided their village. He tells the rest of the story in his personal recollections thus:

"In the surprise and excitement of the wild onset of the charge a group of warriors were forced away from the rest. Before making the attack I had ordered our Sioux and Cheyenne Indians to call out to the Lame Deer Indians that if they threw down their arms and surrendered we would spare their lives. As we galloped up to this group of warriors they apparently recognized the purport of the demand and dropped their arms on the ground. In order to assure them of our good will I called out 'How-how-hola' (meaning friend), and extended my hand to the chief, Lame Deer, which he grasped, and in a few seconds more I would have secured him and the others, as although he was wild and trembling with excitement, my adjutant, George W. Baird, was doing the same with the head warrior, Iron Star.

"Unfortunately just at that time one of our white scouts rode up and joined the group of officers and soldiers with me. He had more enthusiasm than discretion and, I presume, desired to insure my safety, as he drew up his rifle and covered the Indian with it. Lame Deer saw this and evidently thought the young scout was going to shoot him. I know of no other motive for his subsequent act than the belief that he was to be killed whether he surrendered or not.

As quick as thought, with one desperate, powerful effort, he wrenched his hand from mine, although I tried to hold it, and grasped his rifle from the ground, ran backward a few steps, raised his rifle to his eye and fired. Seeing his determined face, his set jaw, wild eye and the open muzzle of his rifle, I realized my danger and instantly whirled my horse from him, and in this quick movement the horse slightly settled back upon his haunches. At that moment the rifle flashed within ten feet of me, the bullet whizzed past my breast, leaving me unharmed, but unfortunately killing a brave soldier near my side."

Naturally the whole scattered band of Indians was instantly wiped out by a close and deadly fire from the soldiers. The incident is typical of the whole series of Indian campaigns in which General Miles figured in the last quarter of a century. The desire to treat the Redskins as fellow men, constantly thwarted by the natural suspicions of the savages themselves, is apparent all through the book.

ORIGIN OF "RESTAURANT."

An Interesting Philological Fact From France.

The French author, Maurice Cabs, recently published in La Republicaine Francaise an essay about the restaurants and eating houses of Paris, relating many interesting details. His story of how the term "restaurant" was first used is well worth repeating. For a long time inns and eating houses in France were only intended for the benefit of traveling people, for the people took their meals at home, and restaurants were unknown. The first enterprise of the kind was founded in Paris in 1765. A citizen by the name of Boulanger opened in the Rue des Poulies an eating house where soup, meat, fowl and eggs were served. A chronicler relates that meals were served there on small, round, marble tables, and everything was scrupulously clean.

Over the entry to this first eating house the proprietor had hung a sign, upon which were the Latin words, "Veni ad me omnes ego stomacho laborantes, et ego restaurabo vos" (Come unto me all ye whose stomachs need attention, and I will restore them). This is a parody on the well known Biblical quotation, "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," only in place of labor and heavy laden he said, "whose stomachs need attention." The word "restaurant," from the Latin "restaurare" (restore or refresh), was the main characteristic of the new establishment and gave it its name. Boulanger amassed a large fortune, for his enterprise proved eminently successful, but he was soon imitated, some of his imitators becoming more famous than he, like Borel, at whose place 1200 young men could be had for 150 francs ($30) per cover.

Grant and Hancock at a Night Alarm.

When Hancock's headquarters were reached, the party remained with him for some time, awaiting the arrival of the head of Warren's troops. Hancock's wound received at Gettysburg had not thoroughly healed, and he suffered such inconvenience from it when in the saddle that he had applied for permission to ride in a spring ambulance while on the march and when his troops were not in action. He was reclining upon one of the seats of the ambulance, conversing with General Grant, who had dismounted and was sitting on the ground with his back against a tree, whittling a stick, when the sound of firing broke forth directly in front. Hancock sprang up, seized his sword, which was lying near him, buckled it around his waist and cried, "My horse, my horse!" The scene was intensely dramatic and recalled vividly to the bystanders the cry of Richard III on the field of Bosworth. Grant listened a moment without changing his position or ceasing his whittling and then remarked: "They are not fighting. The firing is all on one side. It takes two sides to start a fight." In a few minutes the firing died away, and it was found that the enemy was not advancing. The incident fairly illustrates the contrast in the temperaments of these two distinguished soldiers.—General Horace Porter in Century.

THE YERINGTON INDIAN MURDER.

About the middle of February, a Plute Indian, known as Jim King, went from the Pyramid Reservation to Yerington to sell fish. While at Yerington, which is better known as "Pizen Switch," he was assaulted while defending two squaws, by a young man named Logan, who struck him on the head with an iron bar. The Indian lingered a week, part of the time unconscious, and died from the effect of the blow.
His murderer was permitted to escape, and the Indians justly incensed, threatened to avenge his death by killing the Whites. The latter, alarmed, called upon the Governor for troops and arms, and the Adjutant-General was dispatched to Yerington, and a company or two of the National Guard were under orders for a day to march to Yerington at a minutes notice.
Meantime the Sheriff of Lyon county telegraphed the authorities in other counties to arrest Logan and an associate named Genzell who was with him at the time the Indian was assaulted.
They were arrested at Winnemucca, taken back to Yerington and discharged by the Justice of the Peace, who seemed to think that killing an Indian who was protecting squaws from the assaults of young hoodlums, was justifiable homicide. Logan sought the protection of the Sheriff of Lyon county, from the Indians, and Judge C. E. Mack hastened to Dayton and held Logan to answer to the Grand Jury. Now that jury has indicted Logan for murder, and if the reports circulated regarding the killing of the Indian are substantiated at the trial, he will doubtless be found guilty and punished.

If the Whites desire to live in peace with the Indians, they must see that they have fair play, and that the wanton and unprovoked murder of an Indian must not be treated as a joke and the murderer permitted to go unpun-ished.

EXTRAORDINARY APPROPRIATIONS.

Chairman Cannon of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives and Representative Sayers, who is at the head of the minority of the committee, have prepared their statements of the appropriations of the Congress just ended for publication in the Congressional Record. Cannon says that in his judgment the appropriations are in excess of the demands of the public service, a fact which he greatly deplores. The total for the Congress is $1,043,437,018, which, he says, is $49-705,812 more than the appropriations of the preceding Congress. Sayers makes the total appropriations of this Congress $54,187,812 in excess of the Fifty-third Congress.

Cannon complains that ours is the only Government in the civilized world where the Executive branch of the Government assumes no degree of responsibility to the taxpayers for the expenditure of public money. The Legislative branch is wholly accountable to the people, as it passes the appropriation bills.

What Mr. Cannon says of the National Legislature and the President is also true of State Governments. The appropriation bills are generally the last that reach the Executive department.
Though they frequently appropriate money for doubtful purposes the appropriations making such appropriations cannot be eliminated from the bill by the Executive and the bill as a whole must be approved or vetoed. As the Legislature generally adjourns before the Governor has time to scrutinize the various items in the bill a veto of the Government or necessitate an extra session of the Legislature, and to avoid these contingencies the bill is approved, though it may contain many objectionable features.

BRYAN AND THE CAUSE.

"The astonishing thing about Bryan's lectures on money in the east is that people could be induced to pay any price to hear such a subject discussed.
Carnegie hall in New York is very large, yet its two galleries Friday evening were crowded, and the $1 50 seats on the floor were half filled. Could any man secure so large an audience to listen to a talk on tariff reform or civil service reform or bossism? Could any champion of the gold standard get people to pay round prices to hear him?
These are dry subjects in themselves, and folks have been accustomed to receive their instruction free. Of course, the only explanation of the phenomenon in Bryan's case, is that the man himself is still an object of interest to a great many people."

The above is from the Springfield Republican one of the ablest and best gold bug papers in the country.
The fact that Mr. Bryan is still an object of interest to a great many people is not the reason so many flock to hear him; as he himself puts it it "is the cause and not the man in which the people are interested."

Something is wrong in the affairs of the country, the people know it and are beginning to examine and do a good deal of thinking, and whether the "wave of prosperity" comes or fails to come about the year 1900 the people will know just about what they want.
Mr. Bryan need not and will not fear the result.

Queen Victoria accompanied by Princess Beatrice and their suite left Windsor for Italy yesterday.

A TERRIBLE WRECK.

A Train Goes Down an Embankment and a Number of People Are Killed.

EVANVILLE, Ind., March 10.—The most disastrous wreck that ever occurred on the Evansville and Terre Haute railroad occurred this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock to the "midnight cannon ball" from Chicago running from the South. The recent rains had a terrible effect on the roads, and the entire service had been directed since last Friday to getting the road in shape for travel. It was pronounced safe last night and train service was resumed. All the trains had orders to proceed cautiously on slow time for safety. The train that was wrecked was coming under these orders.

Three quarters of a mile north of Hazelton, where the roadbed is built on an embankment, the embankment suddenly gave way, and the engine, baggage car and part of the smoker went down. The engine turned over but the baggage car remained upright. The smoker hung over the abyss. The engineer escaped death, but the fireman was killed. The conductor, who was in the smoker, was also killed.
In the smoker were fifteen passengers, all of whom were killed.

Shortly after the train went down the crovasse spread and is now 100 feet wide. The smoker, which contained the ill-fated passengers, floated off into a field. Where the accident occurred there is a long stretch of enbankment upon which the track is laid.
This is surrounded by backwater from the White river. It is supposed that ground-hogs burrowed under the embankment. Water followed, making the accident possible.

Greeks and Turks.

BERLIN, March 10.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from Candia says that in a fight between Turks and a detachment of insurgents before the gates of the town sixty of the Turks were killed or wounded. The dispatch further announces that the town is threatened with incendiarism.

CANEA, March 10.—When the sun rose this morning it was seen that there were strange vessels at anchor here. They were British and Italian transports loaded with troops, evidently a part of the foreign force which, as the admirals recommended, will occupy all the principal seaports towns of the island.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 10.—It is announced that 55,000 Turkish troops are concentrated on the Greek frontier. It is understood that the Greek forces sent into Thessaly do not exceed 13,000 men of all arms.

LONDON, March 10.—It is stated here that secret orders have been received for the first army corps, including the York and Lancaster regiment, the Essex regiment and the Suffolk regiment to prepare for service in the Mediterranean.

Congressional Proceedings.

The first business transacted in the Senate yesterday was the reading of a letter from Governor Bradley of Kentucky announcing the appointment of Andrew T. Wood as Senator.

Hear at once moved that he be sworn in.

Morgan moved the credentials be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. Carried.

Hear presented a written notice of two proposed amendments to the rules of the Senate of a radical nature. The most important was, according to the written notice, to enable the Senate to act on legislation when it desires, after reasonable debate.

It was decided on motion of Hear that when the Senate adjourn it be until Monday, afterward it was decided to adjourn sine die.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Senators Pettigrew and Cannon deny that they called on the President yesterday to assure him they intended to support his tariff policy.

Attorney General Taylor of Kentucky yesterday filed four suits against the Southern Pacific R. R. for penalties for failing to report to the Kentucky State officers.

Ex-Senator J. N. Dolph of Oregon died yesterday at 11:30 a. m. His leg was amputated on Monday in the hope of saving his life which was threatened by blood poisoning, but the shock was too great and at no time since the operation was performed was there any probability of his living. Joseph N.
Dolph was born in Watkins, N. Y., in 1835 and came to Oregon in 1862. In 1882 he was elected U. S. Senator and served two full terms.

The Secretary of the Interior has announced his intention to pursue a conservative policy. The men now in office will be retained and changes will be made only when necessary or confidential relations require a change.
This is discouraging to those who expected to be installed at the Federal crib immediately after the inauguration of President McKinley. There is a tenure of office act on the statute books which prohibits the removal of Federal officers, except for cause, during the term for which they were appointed.

The Silver Republicans, Silver Democrats and Populists are considering the advisability of forming a coalition for the purpose of controlling the organization of the Senate. The combined members of the three parties outnumber the gold Republicans.

It is thought now that the Legislature will continue in session this week as several of the members desire to attend the "physical culture" entertainment on the 15th instant.

THE DEATH OF SUTHERLAND.

The Duke of Sutherland presented a poem to one of the pottery towns. The poem was a big event, and the Prince of Wales was asked to perform the ceremony. A deputation waited on the prince accordingly, a wealthy and worthy magistrate being spokesman.

Honest old John was noted less for courtlike demeanor than for being large hearted, rough and ready and real Staffordshire. Unfortunately his royal highness was unable to comply.

"I should have been most happy," said he, "had I known sooner."

"Canna the spare half a day just to show thy face?" said the worthy fellow.
"We shall look fules when we get back." But the prince was inexorable.

Much disconcerted, the deputation seemed at a loss how to proceed. Suddenly an idea struck their resourceful leader, and, turning to the heir apparent, he said:

"Well, if the canna come, send thy mother."—Strand Magazine.

The Spirit of Love.

Beyond all question, it is the most valuable constitution of matter that we know—divine, beyond the efforts of man. The exhibition of kindness has the power to bring out the best in the animal into subjection. How kindness to a dog, and he will accompany it, he will be grateful, he will unfailingly return love for love. Show kindness to a lion, and you can lead him by the mane, you can thrust your head into his mouth, you can make the unmaned ferocity of his heart into an affection stronger than death. And if this blessed influence should extend itself over the earth, a moral garden of Eden would exist in every land. Instead of the thorn and briar would spring up the fir tree and the myrtle, the desert would bloom and the solitary places be made glad.—New York Ledger.

The Last London Sweep.

The contemporary chimney sweeps, who still are of importance to London, are last youths and mature men, who work with a "machine" and bear relation to the ancient order commemorated by Lamb and purposely championed by Dickens only in their soot grimed hands and blackened countenances. One of these, testifying at the inquest over William Price, summed up the grand difference between original worth and present degeneracy. "For, bless you, we ain't chimney sweeps no more; we are a bit of it. We work with a lot of sticks. Anybody can do that. But ah, he wor a sweep, he wor! He could do our work, but we couldn't do his.
There ain't no chimbleys, and there ain't no sweeps now."—London Letter.

The Last Horse Radish.

The eradication of the ditches and the frequent radically named armies of the last century known as sweeps, are not only serviceable as a method of cleaning for hot winter weather but they are a good supply of medical ingredients. From it comes that the old British concoction, compound radish, which the Thespian proprietors have raised many dyspepsias and the hot root was first used as a sudorific horse radish in the cases of chronic rheumatism and decay sufferers have often found temporary relief by using the radish in this direction.

Smiling a Moral.

"I don't say," remarked Senator Sorghum, "when I was more impressed with the fact that there is frequently a variety of ways to be drawn from the most trivial circumstances than I was at the dinner the other day. One of the children got the wind-up."

"Oh, yes! One takes one end and another takes the opposite, and the one who gets the longest is supposed to get his wish."

"Exactly. And I took occasion then and there to impress upon their youthful minds how much in this life depends on having a good pull."

Mahara's Minstrels.

This clever company who are billed to appear at McKisick's Opera House, Saturday, March 13th, are spoken of by the Portland, Oregon, Evening Telegram, November 26th, as follows:

"Mahara's fun-making minstrels, a genuine colored band, entertained a large audience at Cordray's last night. It has been a long time since a colored troupe visited Portland, and the change to the varied entertainment afforded by the minstrels was well received. They sprang a few of the time-honored gags that are among the props of any first-class minstrel show, but most of the songs and conversational bouts were new, and succeeded admirably in bringing down the house. The banjoist, Tim Anderson, is as good as has ever been seen. Hilliard Brewer, the contortionist, is one of the features of the show. Among the fun-makers may be mentioned Leroy Bland and Dan Avery in parodied songs and dances, Billy Young and Charles Cass in late topical and sentimental songs. The show concludes with shadowgraph pantomimes.

"Mahara's Minstrels are here for four nights at a big matinee Saturday. They should do a good business."

Webster Sisters.

A dramatic treat of unusual excellence will occur at the Opera House Monday evening, March 15th, when the famous Webster Sisters will appear in scenes from Shakespeare and old English comedies, and also in descriptive dances. The New York Herald says of a recent performance there: "Nothing for a long time has been seen in New York at once so brightly novel, so fresh and so attractive as the selection given by the Webster Sisters, from English comedies, Shakespearean and other old time dramas." Reserved seats now on sale at Lake's.

Visitors on Their Way to Carson.

George F. Dobson, managing editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, N. Y., and Mr. McGee also of New York, paid the Journal office a friendly visit yesterday. The gentlemen took the 1:35 train for Carson yesterday afternoon, where they will remain until the rivalry between Corbett and Fitz is satisfactorily adjusted. They are of the opinion that the attendance from the East will not be nearly as large as has been anticipated, mainly owing to the time and expense necessary to a trip so far west. They are pleasant gentlemen to meet.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

M. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaver Valley, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

The Viavi Cause.

It is impossible to take Viavi into the system without benefit. It is purely vegetable and as a nerve and tissue builder has no equal. It can be used with perfect safety by the most delicate, and is used upon the smallest children.

Patrons of the remedy can consult our physicians free of charge. I will take pleasure in explaining its various uses to all who may call.

Mrs. B. E. HUNTER.

Appendicitis.

Drs. Gibson were called to Wadsworth Tuesday afternoon to see Fred Washam, who has been at the point of death for several days suffering from an attack of appendicitis. The surgical operation for the cure of this dreaded disease occurred yesterday morning and it is hoped that the young man may now improve. A dispatch received late last evening says the patient is doing well.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

RIOTING COEUR D'ALEN MINERS.

Trouble Between Catholic and American Protective Association Members Renewed.

The religious war that has been waged between miners in the Coeur d'Alene for years past was given a fresh impetus recently by an occurrence that threatens to lead to the shedding of blood. At a recent entertainment at Wardner, Miss Johnson, a school-teacher, in an address made at attack on Catholics. In last week's issue of the Wardner Citizen, Editor C. R. Burris commenting on her utterances, made some severe strictures upon Miss Johnson's personal character.

American Protective Association members to the number of 150 met and a committee of five was appointed to bring Burris before the meeting. He was dragged from his office through the streets to the place of meeting. A stormy discussion ensued as to what to do with Burris. Some favored a coat of tar and feathers, but the majority wanted to hang him. Finally, after a strong appeal from the leader of the secret organization to not commit murder, a motion to run Burris out of town prevailed. He was escorted from the place by a mob.

Later, warrants were issued for the arrest of eight ringleaders on a charge of conspiracy and inciting a riot. Sheriff Henri and five deputies have started to the mines to make arrests. Grave apprehension is felt at Wardner as to the outcome of the trouble, as the feeling runs high.

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.

This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 48 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects.

In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

ment rendered on the 15th day of February,

States gold coin, together with costs and interest, I have this day levied upon the said defendant of, claim and interest of the said defendant of,
in and to that certain "real property" situate, lying and being in the new town of Washoe, county of Washoe, State of Nevada, and described as follows: A portion of lot number two (2) of said new town of Washoe, county of Washoe, State of Nevada, being the 15th foot front of the west portion of said lot, extending back the same width twenty-four (24) feet and from this point, twelve and a half feet wide of the same forty-foot portion, and extending to back of lot sixty-six feet.

Public notice is hereby given that I will on the 15th day of March, A. D. 1897, at 1 o'clock door of the county of Washoe, sell at public auction for United States gold coin, to the highest and best bidder all the right, title, claim and interest that the said defendant had in and property on the 20th day of October, A. D. 1894, the same being the date on which a writ of attachment, issued in said court and cause, was duly levied upon said

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe County. The State of Nevada, and to D. H. Webster, granting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Webster, as plaintiff, in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases fourty days; or default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. This action is brought to recover by plaintiff a divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between her and the defendant, D. H. Webster, upon the grounds of your wilful desertion of her as your wife for the period of one year and more, to-wit: since the 15th day of May 1895. I am also on the grounds of your neglect for the period of one year and more to-wit: for four years last past, to provide her with the necessary comforts of life, and that such neglect was not the result of poverty on your part which you could not have avoided with ordinary industry. And said complaint also alleges that you and said defendant are residents in Modoc County in the State of California, July 31, 1891; that plaintiff has resided in Washoe County, State of Nevada, 12 months, last past; that you and plaintiff have no children and no community property. All of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded, in her complaint, to-wit: a divorce from the bonds of matrimony.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, at Reno this 7th day of January, A. D. 1897,
J. H. HAYDON,
Atty., for plaintiff.

SUMMONS.

Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a decree of divorce, forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you and said plaintiff, on the grounds of desertion and abandonment by you of said plaintiff for more than one year last past prior to the date hereof. All

complaint which is on file in the office of the

PSALM OF LIFE.

Through the wild babel of our fever'd time
The song of Homer cometh, grave and stern, With tidings from the world's fresh, healthy prime—
"Tidings which our worn, wearied age concern."
Unchang'd, through all the long, unnumber'd years,
The voice of Homer sings the song divine, Which tells of godlike toils, of heroes' tears And of the punishment of Priam's line.

The battle in the plain is raging yet;
The watch fires blaze; the head'd ships line the shore.
For us the foe in grim array is set.
Ah, but do we fight as they fought of yore?
For we, too, like the heroes long ago, Must wage slow wars and sail the bitter sea.
Fierce is the conflict, loud the tempests blow,
And the waves roar and rage unceasingly.

Still must we wander o'er the stormy main, "Twixt rocks and whirlpools a dread passage make."
Still must the sirens sing to us in vain, Still from the toils of Circe must we break.

Turn, then, to Homer's psalm of life and see How many ordered whose pilgrimage is done And hear the message they have left for thee—Only by patience in the victory won.
—Macmillan's Magazine.

INCANDESCENT LAMPS.

How the Burned Out Filament May Be Replaced and Renewed.

It has been generally supposed to be a fruitless task to attempt the renewal of a burnt out incandescent electric lamp, although there appears to be some economic fallacy involved in the destruction of what is except in one small if important particular a perfect piece of apparatus. It is not intended, as a rule, to give in this column descriptions of American devices or achievements drawn from foreign publications. This subject has, however, been taken up by the English Journal, Industries and Iron, and, although it states that an American process for renewing these lamps after the filament has been broken has been developed, it does not give the name of inventors nor state that the process has come into anything like general application. Its description of the operation is therefore given for what it is worth.

It states that a commercial success has been made of a process for renewing burned out lamps which renders possible the use of the old bulb at a very slight expense. By the new method the collar, or base end, of the lamp is not disturbed, the old filament being removed and the new one placed through a small hole in the lamp bulb made by removing the tip. The small hole is subsequently closed exactly in the same manner as in the case of the new lamp, leaving nothing to indicate in the finished, repaired lamp that it had ever been opened.

It is stated that some 400,000 lamps have been repaired by this method, the filament being inserted through the small hole referred to by a skillful twist of the hand and secured in position by a special carbon paste. The black deposit on the inside of the bulb is removed by fitting the lamp to the holder and removing it in a gas furnace, while immunity following this operation a small glass tube is used to the opening made in the bulb, through which the lamp is exhausted. When this has been done and the last trace of air has been absorbed, a blow-pipe flame is directed upon the throat of the tube, which is melted into the point exactly in every respect a counterpart of the original lamp.—Providence Journal.

The Well Dressed Man.

There is a certain professor in a certain university of the United States who once, at the beginning of one of his lectures on fine arts, got on the subject of the kind of pins worn in the neckties of young college men. He was a good lecturer and was always interesting, but this lecture was the most interesting of his course to the 800 boys who heard him, and the whole hour was spent on necktie pins, their use and misuse and what they suggested. The gist of what he said was that there was no more reason why a boy should wear a horseshoe with a whip across it all in gold than that houses should have sieves for roofs, and that as it was extremely foolish to put a big sieve on your house for a roof, so it was quite as foolish to wear horseshoes on your neckties. The principle of this is that you should have a reason in what you wear as well as in other things and that senseless decorations, like horseshoes on neckties or neckties on horseshoes, are silly and unbecoming to a self respecting person.
This particular example was only one to illustrate a principle, which is that nothing unusual, queer, out of the ordinary, is in itself a good thing—that, in fact, most things that are queer and out of the ordinary are likely, in the question of dress, to be in bad taste.
A man's dress ought to be quiet, but it must be clean and well taken care of in every instance. The best dressed man is the man who, in whatever company he finds himself, is inconspicuous; who, you realize in an indefinite way, is well appointed, though you cannot well tell why.—Harger's Round Table.

Household Economics.

"I don't see, Elv, how you manage with your house money. If I give you a lot, you spend a lot, but if I don't give you so much you seem to get along with it."

"Why, that's perfectly simple, Rudolph. When you give me a lot, I use it to pay the debt I get into when you don't give me so much."—Fliegende Blätter.

Where the Trouble Is.

"It isn't a bit of trouble to get married," said the airy young person.
"No," spoke the sedate one. "It is in being married that the trouble is."— Indianapolis Journal.

There are 23 allusions in the Bible to the east wind, 19 of them being of a disparaging character.
